COLLIN BANKERS WILL HOLD NEXT MEET AT ALLEN

What proved to be one of their most enjoyable meetings ever held was the quarterly session of the Collin County Bankers association, which met at Princeton Thursday night with some forty Collin bankers and visitors in attendance. The meeting was held in the open air tabernacle of the Baptist church.

C. M. Moore of Celina, president of the County Bankers association, presided over a brief business session. The next quarterly meeting of the group will be held in Allen at the invitation of James Garland, cashier of that bank.

An interesting program was given, with J. W. Neal, cashier of the Citizens States bank, at Princeton, presiding. The program, which proved both enjoyable and profitable, included invocation by Editor F. C. Thompson, of McKinney; violin-piano duet by Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Johnson, former residents of Princeton, but now living in Hominey, Oklahoma; vocal solo by Mrs. Wilbur, accompanied by Mrs. Wesley Johnson at the piano; readings by Mrs. J. I. Griffin and Miss Ruth Neal; "Eat 'Em Up," blackface skit by two members of the Princeton Little theater.

Interesting Talks Made.

Interesting talks were made by A. H. Eubanks, active vice-president and cashier of the Central State bank of this city, who discussed various phases of banking in a most able and interesting manner, and by J. W. Neal, Princeton banker, who gave an interesting discussion on the "Onion Industry in Collin County." The latter, in his address, went into details on how the onion situation is handled in this county, declaring that Princeton has already shipped 188 cars, this season. Each car brings an average of about $500.

An interesting round-table discussion was held with Thos. Johnson and F. C. Thompson of McKinney, Hamp Wysong of Melissa, James Garland of Allen, O. S. Carlisle of Farmersville and others making talks.

Delicious Menu Served.

Following the business session and program, a most delectable dinner was served by the P.-T. A. ladies and the Princeton Little Theater. The menu was as follows:

Fruit cocktail, fried chicken, cream gravy, creamed potatoes, blackeyed peas, fried corn, tomatoes, onions, home made pickles, hot rolls, Harvard tea, pineapple salad, ice cream and cake, cigars and cigarettes and soda pop.

Among those in attendance from McKinney were—from the Collin County National bank: Thos. Johnson, Henry W. Warden, Newton J. Burkett, E. L. Kissinger, Clyde Cunningham, U. S. Arrington and Miss Irene Marley; from the Central State bank: A. Hardy Eubanks, Sims Cameron, Lovejoy Comegys, J. C. Stewart, Mrs. Mary Copus and Clyde West; J. E. Gibson, president of the Melissa National bank, and Editor F. C. Thompson of the McKinney Examiner.

Roger Kilgore, popular young manager of the Texas theater, who submitted to a minor operation one day recently, is recovering nicely. He will be able to resume his duties at the Texas within a few days.

W. T. CORBITT DIES AT HOME NEAR WYLIE

William T. (Tom) Corbitt, 74, a longtime pioneer citizen of the Wylie community, died at his home about one mile northeast of Wylie, Tuesday. Mr. Corbitt is survived by his wife, and three daughters, Mrs. A. Blalock and Mrs. V. J. Muse of Dallas and Mrs. E. M. Barnes of Wylie; one son, Will Corbitt, of Wylie; three sisters, Mrs. Emma McCullough, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Mary Deters, Scotland, Archer county; and three brothers, George Corbitt of Elk City, Oklahoma; Phil and Sam Corbitt of Wylie; and eleven grandchildren.

The funeral was held at St. Anthony Catholic church, at Wylie, Thursday at 9:30 a. m. with burial in the St. Paul Catholic cemetery, three miles north of Wylie.

Mr. Corbitt was one of that section's outstanding farmers, and counted his friends by his acquaintances. He was a man who always attended to his own affairs, letting others run theirs. This editor had known him for many years and always respected him as a man who believed in right from wrong and was always doing right. In his passing, the Wylie community has lost one of its real fine farmer citizens.

Maynor Webb of Prosper was a McKinney visitor Monday, coming over for the meeting of St. Paul's Masonic lodge held here that night.

W. S. CAMPBELL OLD CITIZEN IN FEEBLE HEALTH

Mrs. W. L. Young and pretty little two-year-old baby daughter, June, of Artesia, California, recently returned to their home, there, from a visit to her old Collin county home in and around McKinney. Mrs. Young's maiden name was Beatrice Campbell, youngest daughter of W. S. Campbell, who for several years has made his home with another daughter, Mrs. Lester M. Tilley, 215 Graham street, in McKinney. Mrs. Young is the youngest of Mr. Campbell's eight living children, consisting of give girls and three boys. We regret to state that Mr. Campbell's health is not robust and for sometime now he has not been able to get out of the house. He is a fine old christian gentleman who has lived many years in this county—chiefly in the Verona and Blythe's Chapel communities. Mr. Campbell greatly enjoyed the visit of his youngest child and her sweet little baby daughter. Mr. Campbell also misses the pleasure of mingling with his numerous old friends who gather on the east side of the courthouse every day during warm weather to visit with each other and discuss old times as well as current events. These editors have long known Mr. Campbell and enjoyed his friendship.

Grapes, Berries Sure Producing Fruit Each Year

"I set out 56 dewberry plants after you gave us the demonstration last January and every one of them are living," Mrs. E. O. Slaughter, yard demonstrator of the Anna Home Demonstration club, told Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration club agent. Mrs. Slaugater stated that these plants furnished a few berries this year, and next year she expects to have fruit for canning from these vines. She has 19 living grape cuttings which represents about half the number she planted during the winter. She feels that no farm home should be without these small fruits when they can be started at so small a cost. She states, too, that grapes and berries are rather sure of producing fruit almost each year and that it takes only a short while for them to begin bearing.

C. A. Jones, who submitted to an operation at the City hospital Saturday, is getting along nicely. He is a son of J. W. Jones, McKinney barber, and a brother of Mrs. I. A. Patterson, of the local telephone company.

DEATH CALLS MRS. SHERMAN THOMAS MONDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Sherman Thomas, aged 31, died at her home about three miles northeast of Princeton at 11:30 o'clock Monday night. Her passing was sudden, she having been ill only a few hours preceding her death.

The deceased was born March 3, 1903, in Hopkins county, Texas, being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Donaway, who survive, as well as her husband and the following children: Pauline, Hester, Ida Fay, W. H. and Kathaline. One child, a son preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Baptist church at Princeton, conducted by Rev. J. Ben Snider of this city. The John K. Wilson & Son funeral home had charge of arrangements. The deceased was a member of the Baptist church.

R. G. Piner, general agent for the Texas & Pacific Railway company, with headquarters in Sherman, and wife are patients in the Wilson N. Jones hospital there, being treated for injuries sustained in a collision between his auto and a big truck near Denton last Wednesday. Mr. Piner remained unconscious for several hours ,but, we understand, is improving. Mrs. Piner sustained a broken arm and bruises. The Piner car was badly damaged by the impact. R. G. Piner is a frequent business visitor in McKinney where he is extensively acquainted.

Mrs. Jess Bone is spending the week with her mother, Mrs. J. T. Bradshaw, in Howe.

Miss Emma Lou Presley of this city is planning to leave Friday for Roswell, New Mexico, to visit a few days at the home of her uncle, Mayor Jack Moore, and wife of that city. Miss Emma Lou will be accompanied by her cousin, Miss Frances Presley, of Dallas. They are anticipating an enjoyable vacation at the home of Mayor Moore and wife, the Mayor having been born and reared at McKinney, being a son of Mrs. Lea Moore of this city.

BROTHER OF MISS VERA HAYES LAID TO REST

YOUNG MAN VICTIM KANSAS RAILWAY MISHAP SUNDAY

Dr. Clifford S. Weaver, pastor of the First Christian church at McKinney, conducted the funeral service of the late W. D. (Dalbert) Hayes, the twenty-five-year old brother of Miss Vera Hayes, a popular McKinney school teacher, held in the Christian church at Whitesboro at 5:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, June 26th.

The young man was born near Whitesboro, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Hayes. His mother died there Jan. 10, 1910. His father died in McKinney, December 30, 1925. His father came to McKinney several years before his death as manager of the McKinney Dry Goods Co. He was one of McKinney's most enterprising and well liked business men.

As stated in Monday's Daily Courier-Gazette, Dalbert Hayes met a tragic death under the wheels of a train at Harper, Kansas, as he was departing for Texas after working in the harvest fields of Kansas. He had already checked his baggage to his sister at McKinney at the time of the fatal accident, news of which came in a telegraphic message to Miss Johnnie Lee Carlisle of McKinney, who received it at 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 24. In about an hour later, she received another telegram informing her of the death of young Hayes. The sister, Miss Vera Hayes, was at the time visiting at the home of her aunt, near Whitesboro.

The body was shipped to the old family home at Whitesboro, Grayson county, and conveyed to the home of an aunt, Mrs. Mark Williams, about twelve miles north of that town where it reposed until burial hour Tuesday afternoon and was then conveyed to the Christian church at Whitesboro for an impressive funeral service conducted by Dr. Clifford S. Weaver, pastor of the victim's sister, at McKinney.

Dr. Weaver's talk was very tender and comforting to the only surviving sister and member of the immediate family of the deceased, as well as to the other relatives and a host of friends, who had gathered to pay their last respects to the departed.

After the close of the funeral service, the body was conveyed to the Dixie cemetery, located four miles north of Whitesboro, and laid to rest in a grave in the family burial plot beside the graves of both of his parents and his older brother, Lawrence B. Hayes, who also met a tragic death which occurred just south of McKinney on the highway on August 24, 1926, as he was riding a motorcycle with his young friend, Lovejoy Comegys.

The tragic death of Dalbert is a crushing blow to Miss Vera who is the only surviving member of her immediate family now left living. She has been a popular teacher in the McKinney Public schools for several years. Genuine sympathy of our entire city pours out to her from our people generally in this crushing sorrow that deprives her of her dear brother, who came to McKinney the last time to visit her while she was ill about two months ago.

Pallbearers at the funeral were Whitesboro boyhood friends adn chums of the deceased.

Profuse and beautiful floral offerings were banked in the chancel rail of the church and covered the new-made grave at the cemetery.

The funeral was very largely attended. The following teachers and friends of the Hayes family at McKinney attended the obsequies: Dr. Clifford S. Weaver, former County Judge E. W. Merritt and wife, Prof. Jack R. Ryan, superintendent city schools, and wife; Mrs. Horace H. Neilson, W. C. Pettitt, manager Perkins Bros. Dry Goods store and wife; Mrs. J. A. McKey, Mrs. Shirley Taylor, Miss Hallie Coffey, Mrs. Lucille Hines, Miss Johnnie Mae Long, Miss Doris Beene, Miss Susie Carlisle, Miss Johnnie Lee Carlisle, Walter B. Wilson, one of the editors of this paper and president of the McKinney School Board.

The deceased is survived by his aunt, Mrs. Mark Williams, and two uncles, Ed McDonald and .....McDonald, who live about twelve miles north of Whitesboro.

Miss Vera Hayes, the bereft sister, was prostrated by the blow of the tragic death of her brother and from weakness of previous illness. She is being tenderly nursed by her aunt and two uncles—the sisters and brothers of her deceased mother and prominent citizens of that portion of Grayson county.

Loren Goddard, son of O. M. Goddard, long engaged in the job printing business in our city, was downtown Thursday for the first time in several weeks, having been confined to his home. Mr. Goddard has also been very ill for several weeks but is much better.

These young men were selected from the relief rolls of the local office. The requirements are that the youths be between the ages of 18 and 25 years and unmarried.

Mr. Bickers states that although young men in this work may re-enlist, all of 43 above mentioned are new entries. They will be stationed at the camp on July 2.

The Farmersville camp is busy now working on the rehabilitation of land in that section, working to prevent soil erosion and to save the land from washing in that section. Good work is being done, according to Mr. Bickers.

PRESSURE COOKER PURCHASED BY 4-H CLUB GIRLS

A pressure cooker, purchased by the White Rock 4-H club girls five weeks ago has been used in canning 147 quarts of vegetables during the past month, the members reported at their club meeting when Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration club agent met with them. The club purchased the cooker in May with money that was made at a pie and ice cream supper. Miss Dora Lee Carrol, the club sponsor, states that the girls have been taking their turns using the cooker and thus have kept it in almost constant use since it was purchased a few weeks ago. The girls feel well pleased with their purchase and expect to continue using it each day as long as there are vegetables to can.

Hon. Jess Morris of Greenville, candidate for Congress from this district, was a McKinney business visitor Monday and spent the day in meeting up with friends on our streets. Mr. Morris made the race for Congress two years ago and received a splendid support. He infomed us he will make a thorough canvass of the entire district, speaking at various points in all counties. This Congressional district is comprised of Collin, Grayson, Rains, Fannin, Hunt, Rockwall and Kaufman counties, the last two-named having been added to this district in the re-districting, which took place over the state recently.

The Full Gospel church of this city will start their summer revival Saturday night, June 9. The revival will be held two miles north of this city on the Sherman highway at the Stephens Filling station. "If you like old-time singing and preaching, you will enjoy these services which will be held every night at 8 o'clock," says Rev. W. M. Lightford, the pastor, who will do the preaching. He invites the general public to attend.

Miss Ethel Russell, one of McKinney's efficient public school teachers, spent the week-end at home in McKinney. Russell, is staying with the latter's son, Boorman Russell, and wife on their farm on the McKinney-Frisco pike, about six miles southwest of McKinney.

N. C. SETTLE AND WIFE OF PROSPER

This editor had the pleasure of renewing acquaintances with our longtime friends, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Settle, of Prosper, while they were in town Wednesday. They were driven to town in their auto by their youngest son, N. C. Settle, Jr., as the husband and father is having to get about by the aid of a crutch since sustaining a painfully cut foot on June 7 while harvesting grain with his selfbinder. The foot got caught between the guards, and the sickle cut his leg about the ankle, which had previously, a good many years before, been badly injured. However, the member is improving nicely, and he hopes to soon be recovered from the hurt. His foot would have been probably severed had he not so quickly stopped the horses.

Mr. and Mrs. Settle are the parents of eight children. She is a niece of the late Uncle Charley Smith, banker and pioneer business man and farmer of Prosper. Her father, the late F. J. Smith, was a brother of Uncle Charley and lived at Aubrey, in Northeast Denton county.

Mrs. Settle's mother died at Prosper in December, 1932, at the age of eighty-five.

Mr. Setlle's oldest son, S. E. Settle, has a degree from the North Texas State Teachers college and now lives at Baird, Callahan county, in West Texas, where he began his career as a school teacher. For several terms in succession, he was elected County School Superintendent of Callahan county, from which position he voluntarily retired. In the course of two or three years later he was elected county clerk and is now a candidate for his fourth term in the latter office without an opponent.

These honors speak in terms of highest praise for his efficiency and popularity as a public servant and useful, public spirited, exemplary citizen in every way.

Sometime Saturday or Sunday night burglars entered the Bryan Bros. Hardware and Implement business, located on East Louisiana street, breaking the back window to gain entrance. The safe was opened and something like $35 or $40 was taken all the cash in the store at the time. The burglary happened sometime between 9:00 o'clock Saturday, when the store was closed and 10:00 o'clock Sunday night when the theft was discovered. Thus, far, nothing except the money has been missed from the store. Local officers are working on the case.

Mrs. Austin Moore and Mrs. Neville Talkington have returned from a few days' visit in Lindale with Mrs. Moore's relatives.

Mrs. J. S. Carlisle and daughter, Miss Johnnie, will leave in a few days for a visit to friends and relatives in Oklahoma City, Chicago, as well as points in Missouri. They will be in Chicago for about six weeks where Miss Carlisle will take a course of study in the university. While there they will be guests of Mrs. Carlisle's son-in-law and daughter, Prof. and Mrs. Jim Webb. Prof. Webb is a member of the faculty of the Chicago university. Miss Carlisle is one of the competent teachers in our city schools.

COL. WARDEN SOON TO LOCATE NATIONAL CAPITOL

Col. John A. Warden, wife and family of Chicago, are preparing to move to Washington, D. C, where the Colonel will become connected with the War college located at the national capital. Col. Warden, who is a son of Mrs. F. M. Warden, and a brother of Henry W. Warden, banker, and Mrs. Gibson Caldwell, all of McKinney, has been an instructor of troops in Chicago during the past two or years years. The Colonel was born and reared here and still claims McKinney as his official home. He is educating his two fine young sons at the Texas A. & M. college of which institution he himself is a graduate. Col. Warden has already carved out for himself a distinguished carrer in the United States Army with several years of foreign service during the World war to his credit. The Warden family is a pioneer and honored one of our county.

A. C. Bullock, Jr., who underwent an operation for appendicitis a few days ago at the City hospital, has sufficiently recovered to be taken to his home, 1007 North Coleman street. Mr. Bullock is a popular well-liked young business man of our city, being the only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bullock, Sr.

Mrs. Belle Staniforth of Denton is a guest of Mrs. I. Price Carr. Mrs. Staniforth has been connected with C. I. A. as matron of one of the dormitories for several years.

The meeting was presided over by W. P. (Billy) Abernathy, retiring president, who has ably served in that capacity for the past two years and who made an exceptionally good head of the association. His successor is likewise expected to make an equally fine record in this important capacity.

Chas. W. Graves, W. B. Mitchell and F. C. Thompson comprise the advertising committee.

The music committee will consist of Henry W. Warden and Chas. W. Graves. The loud speaker system will again be used this year to broadcast events from the bandstand.

A dinner for the Confederate veterans will again be held on the first day, Wednesday. The Confederates are fast thinning out and only a handful of the original gallant band in this county remain. Every honor will be paid them.

BARNETT CLUB WOMAN'S FINE BERRY PATCH

MRS. GALE McTEE HAS CANNED 41 QUARTS ALREADY THIS YEAR

"We are so pleased with our berry patch that you helped us to arrange last January," Mrs. Gale McTee, secretary of the Barnett club, told Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration club agent. Since the vines were too close together every other row was plowed up, leaving three original rows. New rows of 110 feet in length were set out six feet apart from the patch and Mrs. McTee states that she grew beans for her family between the rows. From the entire patch this spring, she states she picked 10 gallons of berries ,canned 41 quarts besides using all the family wanted fresh and giving 5 gallons to friends.

Besides the berry patch, Mrs. McTee is pleased with the 11 grape cuttings which were put out last January, which are now growing and doing well. She feels that each farm home should have these small fruits, since they can be obtained at so small a cost.

25 YEARS AGO IN M'KINNEY

FROM THE FILES OF THE DAILY COURIER-GAZETTE

(June 26, 1909.)

Messrs. R. R. Allen, Sam Massie and McCarty Moore, directors, have purchased from the McKinney Cotton and Oil Mill Co., eleven and two-fifths acres of land, lying south of the mill and adjoining the old fairgrounds, consisting of thirteen acres. The combined tract now totals twenty-four and two-fifths acres as the old fairgrounds are already owned by the city, having been donated for park purposes. The nearly twenty-five acres will be fitted out as a pretty city park and permanent grounds for holding the annual reunions and picnics, at McKinney in the future.

CANDIDATES TO PIKE

Candidates will be "hard to find" around McKinney tomorrow (Thursday) night. If you notice the highways late Thursday leading out of McKinney, toward the Northeast, you will see a line of cars of these candidates—all on their way to Pike for the first speaking engagement of a twenty-six day tour, which will carry them to every section of the county. The tour will keep them busy each night except Sunday from Thursday, June 28, until Friday night, July 27, when the itinerary will be concluded in McKinney at the District courthouse.

RAIN IS NEEDED

And still the persistent heat wave sticks with us. But, as one citizen told us Wednesday, "It does very little good to argue about the weather. You can't change it a bit." The corn crop is suffering from the continued dry, hot weather. However, we feel that a rain is due in the next few days. When, and if it comes, it will certainly be appreciated.

ATTEMPTED HIJACKERS

Two attempts have already been made this week to rob Collin county stores and filling stations. Efforts of a hijacker to stick-up the Chas. Watts filling station on East Greenville street failed when Mrs. Watts ran from the store with the money which they had taken in during the week-end, frustrating the efforts of the robber who put Mr. and Mrs. Watts at pistol point. Monday, a hijacker "stuck up" W. H. Bryce, general merchant at Bowlby, west of McKinney, and took from his store and filling station something like $30 or $40. The methods in the two cases were somewhat similar. The Sheriff's office was notified in both instances and is working on the case. Bryan Bros. safe was also robbed over the past week-end.

MASONIC RITES AT BURIAL OF W. V. THOMAS

FORMER RESIDENT THIS COUNTY BURIED HERE

The late Monteville V. Thomas 56 years, 2 months and 6 days old, was buried in Pecan Grove cemetery at 4 o'clock Saturday evening, June 23, under Masonic auspices.

The deceased who was a brother of Mrs. George W. Smith, wife of the McKinney tailor, died in Baylor hospital, Dallas, on Thursday, June 21, after an extended illness.

The deceased was born in Casey County, Kentucky, April 15, 1878. When a little boy about eight years old, his family moved to Texas and settled, at Anna, in North Collin.

He was reared in this county, but moved away from McKinney about twenty years ago. He was a successful business man of Dallas and a prominent member of the Christian church there and of several Masonic orders including the Shrine.

His funeral services were held Saturday afternoon in the Ed C. Smith undertaking parlors and as above stated, the remains were brought to Pecan Grove cemetery, this city, for interment, according to the impressive Masonic burial rites.

The deceased is survived by his wife, two sons and two daughters.

His mother died a little over a year ago and was buried at Tishomingo, Oklahoma. His father, the late James K. Thomas, died on the Longneck road, just north of Princeton, July 20, 1905, and was buried in the Altoga cemetery under Masonic ausices.

The deceased is also survived by one sister, Mrs. George W. Smith, of McKinney, and two brothers, Marion Thomas of Tishomingo, Oklahoma, and Sherman Thomas, of Kenefic, Oklahoma.

Several Masons and other friends of this city, who heard about his funeral, attended his burial in Pecan Grove cemetery on Saturday afternoon.

She is well preserved for her advanced years, with the exception that her eye sight is not so good. However, she hears about easily and says she has paid only two or three doctor bills in her entire life. She has one son, Jim Birkit, who lives in Littlefield, Texas. She also has eleven grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. Her brother, George Stibbins, who accompanied her to McKinney, is 93 years of age. She is pleasing to talk with, of a genial disposition and spent a most enjoyable day at the county seat Friday.

Among those from Collin county attending the celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. John Strother, Miss Mildred Strother, Virginia Rena, Beth and J. O. Strother III, all of Anna.

Speaks Saturday

HON. C. C. McDONALD

Hon. C. C. McDonald, of Wichita Falls, candidate for the governorship of Texas, addressed a large crowd of McKinney and Collin county voters, consisting of both men and women, from the east steps of the courthouse Saturday afternoon. He was introduced by Hon. Ted Sisco, young McKinney attorney, who paid tribute to the ability of the speaker of the day. The meeting was opened by Mayor Joe E. Largent who extended a welcome to all visitors in the city to hear the distinguished speaker.

Mr. McDonald arrived in McKinney Saturday morning and spent several hours, accompanied by Messrs. Sisco, J. W. Purcell, J. R. Travillion and other friends and admirers in meeting up with many friends over the city.

Entered Politics in 1910.

Mr. Sisco, in introducing the speaker of the day, briefly gave his life history, his education in the public schools and the Denton Teachers college, declaring that he had studied law in the office of Adams & Young, in Dallas He has practiced law for twenty-four years. He commended the excellent platform of this candidate. The speaker, he said, first entered politics back in 1910 when he stumped the state for O. B. Colquitt, who was later elected Governor.

In beginning, Mr. McDonald declared that he had no time for personalities and that a discussion of his platform would consume all the time he could spare without even so much as a mention of his opponents. "My platform is not difficult to understand," he said. "It has no empty platitudes and was not written just to ride into office." He added that he hoped his platform would result in a permanent relief program and that it might possibly prevent another panic such as we have just gone through. He characterized it as "a covenant with the people."

Mr. Russell is on a state-wide speaking tour. He has visited in McKinney before, but this was his first speech here. Mr. Russell is a "bone dry" candidate. He declared this to be his first venture into politics. He is a farmer by occupation.

Allred will speak in this city Wednesday night, July 11. Clint Small has not yet made a definite speaking date in McKinney.

ATTMPT MADE TO HIJACK CHAS. WATTS' PLACE

An unsuccessful attempt was made to hijack the Chas. Watt's grocery and filling station, located just east of the city on the Greenville road about 9 o'clock Sunday night, when a lone bandit, who showed signs of being an amateur in the profession, was thwarted in his plans to rob that place of business.

According to Mr. Watts, the man drove up to his store from a westerly direction, ordering five gallons of gas and asked to have his oil checked. Afterward he asked for a cold drink and followed the proprietor into the store. As Mr. Watts reached down in the ice box to get the drink, the man suddenly drew a gun and ordered him to put his hands in the air. Mr. Watts complied. He commanded Mr. Watts to turn over his money and was told it was in the cash register. Seeing Mrs. Watts, who was behind a counter in the store, the bandit ordered her to put her hands up, which she refused to do. She grabbed the billfold, in her husband's hip pocket, and ran from the store into their home, next door, telephoning local officers.

Taken off his guard by this unexpected turn in affairs, the hijacker backed out of the store, bumping into Glen, young son of the store proprietor and wife. He quickly made his departure, heading east. Sheriff Walker and other local officers were provided with the number of the fleeing car.

Mr. Watts had a considerable amount of money on his person, including both his Saturday and Sunday receipts from his place of business. The courage of both himself and his wife no doubt saved them from being the victims of this hijacker. Officers have been furnished a description of the man and, together with his car number, are hopeful of making an arrest in the near future.

ABSENTEE VOTING WILL BEGIN IN COUNTY JULY 8

Some interesting information regarding absentee voting is given out by Mrs. Pearl Strother, county clerk, and her assistant, Miss Bessie Keen, as follows:

"Any qualified voter who expects to be absent from the county on July 28th, the day of the primary election, may cast absentee votes in the following manner:

A ballot will then be given to those who apply and must be marked by person applying without any assistance or suggestion. The ballot so marked will be placed in a sealed envelope and held until the proper time and same will be sent to the proper voting box and your vote will be counted on election day just as if you were present and voting.

"If you leave the county before July 8th you may write to the county clerk for application to be mailed to you. This request must be accompanied by your poll tax receipt or exemption certificate. When you receive the ballot through the mail, mark same immediately without any assistance from any person, place in the envelope provided for the return of same and mail immediately to the county clerk of this county. Your ballot will be sent by the county clerk to the proper voting box of your county."

Mrs. B. F. Bunyard of San Angelo and young daughter, Marguerite, and Mrs. A. M. Miller, 3809 Avenue K, Fort Worth, who is a cousin of Mrs. Bunyard, briefly visited Mrs. Mary Faires, Mrs. Walter B. Wilson and perhaps other friends in McKinney, Saturday. Mrs. Bunyard and daughter came up to Fort Worth to visit relatives for a few days and for Marguerite to attend the state meeting of the Rain bow Girls in Dallas. Mr. Bunyard is a successful merchant of San Angelo where the family has lived for several years and done well. Marguerite is a very talented young girl, reading and in her general school studies. Mrs. Miller informed us that her mother, Mrs. Laura Yeargin, passed away last September in Fort Worth. She had been reared principally in this county and at McKinney. She was formerly Miss Laura Crowder and had many girlhood and young womanhood friends living in this county who will regret to hear of her passing.

Mrs. Eugene Harold, Route 4, Norristown Road, Norristown, Pennsylvania, sends Daily Courier-Gazette renewal subscription. Mrs. Harold was formerly Miss Ruth McKinney, daughter of Police Chief and Mrs Chief Jess O. McKinney of this city and a niece of Giles McKinney, president of the Collin County National bank.

4-H CLUB GIRLS WILL GIVE STYLE SHOW JULY 7

A 4-H girls style show will be held at the Central Presbyterian church on Saturday, July 7, beginning at 10 a. m. Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration club agent, states that the girls will enter dresses which they have made themselves from cotton wash materials. The girls, 10 to 12 years, inclusive, will wear simple wash dresses appropriate for house wear. The next older girls will wear cotton school dresses while the older girls will wear sport dresses. Winners in each of these three groups will be awarded material for new dresses by the Perkins Dry Goods company. Some of the winners in the style show will also be awarded trips to the A. & M. Short Course which is July 30 to August 3.

The program for the day will be varied to fit the occasion. The morning program will consist of singing and various demonstrations. In the afternoon the girls will participate in an old fashioned style show depicting periods in dress of years ago. This will be followed by a modern style show with the club girls modeling in dresses they have made. The public is invited to be present to see the girls as they appear in this style show.

CARLOAD ONIONS SHIPMENTS MAY DOUBLE THIS YEAR

Carload shipments of onions from the North Texas growing area, of which Collin county is an important factor, may double over the 1933 shipments, according to R. J. Thompson, local agent of the Louisiana, Arkansas & Texas railway, which has been busily engaged in shipping out a part of the "onion deal" for the past several weeks.

In 1933, Mr. Thompson points out, there were 712 carload shipments of onions from the North Texas area. Up until June 19 this year, there had already been 1,147 carloads shipped out of the same area. Although the peak of shipments has been reached, at least 1,400 cars are expected to roll out of this area before the season finally closes.

Mr. Thompson points out that although the onion movement is slowing down and the peak of the season has been reached, there are still a considerable amount of onions in this area yet to be harvested and shipped.

Shipments are being made from McKinney, Princeton, Farmersville, Melissa, Piano, Wylie, Copeville, Lavon, Nevada and Josephine.

Although the acreage was much heavier this year than ever before in this area, the crop was lighter in yield.

Greatly increased acreage and production in the Wylie, Piano and Melissa sections and a general slight increase in the other growing sections bent the total shipments soaring upward.

The price has held up exceptionally well and fairly good prices for labor in preparing the onions for shipment—harvesting, crating culling and sacking, have also been paid.

Collin county onions this year are being shipped to a wider territory than ever before with shipments to the East, South, North and some to the Pacific Coast.

W. O. Daniels of Murphy was a McKinney business visitor Thursday. While here, we had the pleasure of shaking hands with him. He says that crops in and around Murphy are looking fine with the exception of corn which is needing rain rather badly. He informed us that Murphy has had two good rains in the past two weeks and also greatly benefited from the huge rain which fell about a month ago and which was of such great benefit to Collin crops. Regarding onions near Murphy, Mr. Daniels stotes that the acreage there was heavier than before but the yield was fairly light and the crop was not as good as expected. He planted three acres from which he gathered approximately 100 bushels per acre.

Former District Clerk Halsell S. Davis, wife and fine little son, Halsell Jr., recently moved to Dallas. Mr. Davis has been connected with the United States Internal Revenue Collector's office, at Dallas, chiefly as a field man in helping to collect processing taxes, however, Internal Revenue Collector W. A. Thomas, having learned the true worth and exceptional ability and character of Mr. Davis, decided to bring him into his main office, giving him one of the most responsible assignments under him. Both Mr. Thomas and Mr. Davis are splendidly equipped for the important service that Uncle Sam has committed to them.

Don Cosad has received word from Baylor university at Waco, that he has been accepted as a medical student, to enter Baylor Medical college in Dallas this fall. Don is a son of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Cosad of this city, his father being pastor of the First Baptist church. He did his pre-med work in Baylor university. Only fourteen students from that university were accepted by the Medical school in Dallas.

ALLOWANCE OF 46,776 BALKES OF COTTON THIS YEAR

COTTON QUOTAS GIVEN FOR COUNTIES IN N. TEXAS

Included in Texas county cotton quotas were the following:

County	Lbs. of Lint Cot.	Tax-Exempt Quota Bales 478 Lbs. Nt Wt
Collin	22,102,580	46,776
Denton	9,018,150	18,866
Ellis	32,480,210	67,950
Grayson	13,058,640	27,319
Hill	26,245,250	54,906
Hunt	19,967,750	41,773

Navarro	24,500,080	51,235
Rockwall	5,666,060	11,854
Tarrant	3,894,070	8,147

The cotton production allowable for Collin county, under the Bankhead bill, as announced by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, includes 22,102,580 pounds of lint cotton with a tax exempt quota of 46,776 bales, of 478 pounds net weight each.

The apportionment, announced of 478-pound net weight bales. Allocations were made among counties of nineteen Southern cotton growing states.

Texas is allotted 3,237,580 bales of the 10,460,251 in total bale cotton production allowable. Other states' quotas are:

Other States' Quotas.

Virginia 31,823, North Carolina 528,693, South Carolina 602,203 Georgia 574,654, Florida 24,683, Illinois 687,, Kansas 378, Kentucky 6,396, Tennessee 337,125, Alabama 884,375, Mississippi 1,098,728, Louisiana 525,028, Oklahoma 782,631, Arkansas 952,669, New Mexico 63,695, Arizona 90,537, California 209,205, Missouri 209,205.

Cotton produced under the quotas will be exempt from 50 per cent of the tax prescribed by the act. Total county quotas in any particular State represent 90 per cent of the total allotment to that State, since the act provides that not more than 10 per cent of the allotment shall be received for allocation to producers under special conditions.

Appeals to Washington on the quotas may be made within fifteen days, according to Cully A. Cobb, chief of the AAA cotton section. As soon as county committees adjust the farmers' applications, allotments will be made in each county.

How Quotas Determined.

Quotas were determined on a prorata basis, with average production from 1928 to 1932 as the starting point and with drouth, storm, flood and insect damage taken into consideration.

Individual producers will be required to submit to committees their applications for individual allotments. Blanks for this purpose will be shipped in a few days. The county committees will forward all blanks to a State board, which will decres the final quotas for each farm.

County quotas were based on 90 per cent production of the entire State, County Farm Agent Jack McCullough explained. The remaining 10 per cent will be taken up in tax-free allotments to farmers who have put cotton on new land, reduced voluntarily more than would have been required if they had signed a contract or those who have less than one-third of their land in cotton. All others and nonsigners and all sellers of over-quota cotton will be subject to the tax.

Will Broaden Program.

The cotton program of the Federal emergency relief administration will be broadened to permit purchases of more than the 250,000 bales already committed, it was announced in Washington today.

Administrator Harry L. Hopkins promised that "we will buy all the cotton needed to meet relief needs." Recently the FERA revealed that it had negotiated for the purchase of 250,000 bales.

The cotton will be shipped to the various States for use in the manufacture of mattresses and quilts for distribution among the unemployed. The manufacture will be through workshops in the larger cities, including St. Louis, Des Moines, Indianapolis and others.

W. C. Dysart, living ten miles north of McKinney, and an authority on agriculture, was a McKinney visitor Tuesday. While here, Mr. Dysart called by our office to leave these editors some of the finest early peaches they have ever eaten. These peaches were of the Togo variety. They are a freestone peach with a beautiful color and excellent taste. Mr. Dysart states that they are the finest of the early season peaches and that no orchard is complete without them. He recently had an order for 100 trees of these Togos. After sampling this excellent fruit, this editor agrees heartily with Mr. Dysart about the quality and excellence of the Togo.

Rev. F. Lamar McGown, pastor of the South Wilcox Street Methodist church, and wife are the parents of a pretty little new daughter, Julia Ann, born Thursday morning, June 21, in the City hospital. Mother and babe are both getting along nicely. The other two children in the McGown home are Mary Lucille, nearly nine, and Lamar Jr., aged four.

SETTLEMENT QUICKLY MADE ON LIFE POLICY

CITIZENS MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO. WITH LATE I. P. CARR

Attention of our readers is called to the advertisement elsewhere in this paper of the Citizens Mutual Life Insurance association of Waxahachie and McKinney of which John V. Singleton of Waxahachie is Secretary.

This popular insurance Association has been operating twelve years, starting at Waxahachie. It now operates in twenty-two Texas counties, Tom L. Bailey of McKinney being their Collin county agent.

Soon after this insurance company was organized, the late I. P. Carr, McKinney merchant, then living at Ennis, took two policies with them which he had been carrying for eleven years when he suddenly died Saturday afternoon at his home in McKinney.

His was the first death loss that the company has sustained in Collin county. Mr. Bailey immediately phoned the news of Mr. Carr's death to Mr. Singleton, at Waxahachie, and in two hours after the deceased had passed away two checks were drawn and properly signed by the company officials—one for $1,000 and the other for $1,100—in favor of Mrs. I. P. Carr, beneficiary. These checks were brought to McKinney Sunday by Carr Eastwood, a representative of the company in its home office.

Immediately today (Monday) after proper certification papers of Mr. Carr's demise could be executed in the legal way, Mr. Eastwood turned the two checks over to the bereaved widow.

This is certainly a commendable record for an insurance company as to prompt settlement of a death claim; also, for personal service rendered to the widow of the deceased by Mr. Bailey, the Collin county agent as well as by the home office, cooperating through Mr. Singleton and Mr. Eastwood.

Mr. Eastwood states that this is the usual record of the Citizens Mutual in making settlements of death claims when sustained wherever they may be located, which they are very proud of.

The company recognizes that personal and prompt service of an insurance company, when death comes to one of its policyholders, is one of the prime reasons that has enabled the Citizens Mutual to make such a remarkable growth since its organization twelve years ago.

Alfred M. Scott, prominent McKinney business man, who is on the Board of Directors of the Citizens Mutual, is also quite proud of his company's solidity and its record for prompt service and speedy settlement when the death messenger calls for one of his company's policyholders as it did in the case of our fellow townsman and McKinney merchant, Mr. Carr, whose sudden death occurred as above stated Saturday afternoon and burial at 5:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

VERONA FARMER SUSTAINS PARTLY BROKEN NECK

Ben W. McTee, a thirty-eight-year-old farmer of the Verona community, is a patient in the home of his brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester M. Tilley, 215 Graham street, this city. Ben, who is a son of John W. McTee of Verona, and a nephew of E. B. McTee of McKinney, was injured in an unusual manner in McKinney on Tuesday, June 12. He and his family were in his truck preparing to leave town for their home at Verona. He was sitting in the bed of the truck with the children when the party, who was driving, stepped on the starter. The machine happened to be in gear and lunged forward with such a force as to throw him out of the rear of the vehicle. He struck on his head with such a force that the third vertebra of his neck was thrown out of place and fractured. He was under treatment in the local hospital for several days until he was removed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tilley where he will remain probably for two or three weeks. He had a narrow escape from death, or at least from paralysis, and will probably have to wear a brace for the support of his head for several months to relieve the weight on his neck.

G Wash Taylor, residing on his farm near Heard Stop, two miles south of Melissa, left home Saturday morning just in time to connect with the interurban car passing Melissa at 7:15 o'clock south to McKinney. However, just before he reached the T. & N. O., (formerly H. & T. C.) railway tracks, lying between his home and the interurban, which the latter parallels a freight train of fifty cars came along, causing him to miss connection with the interurban car. This necessitated his waiting an hour for the next southbound interurban to come along and bring him on in to McKinney. Mr. Taylor has lived a good many years on his farm, often riding the interurban, but this is the first experience of that kind he had ever met up with.

PERSONALS

E. L. Perkins of Malakoff, Texas, has recently purchased a 70-acre farm near Melissa. The sale was handled by R. L. Hight.

E. B. McTee, who has been confined to his home on South Wilcox street for some eighteen months, is now able to get up and around the house which will be gratifying news to his many friends. Mr. McTee, prior to his illness, was a faithful, conscientious member of the city police force. These editors, long friends of the McTee family, are pleased that out good friend is gradually, but surely recovering his health.

Otis Nelson, popular and progressive merchant whose dry goods store is located on East Louisiana street, has recently had his store nicely repainted and other improvements made. Mr. Nelson is a native of this county, for several years having been engaged in the dry goods business, and enjoying a good trade. He is a liberal user of advertising space in the Daily Courier-Gazette and the Weekly Democrat-Gazette. He is a good man to trade with.

While in town Wednesday, N. C. Settle of Prosper, a veteran West Collin farmer and a good one, too, told us that his wheat only averaged ten bushels per acre this year and oats, twenty bushels per acre. This was one of the lightest grain crops that he has ever produced. He states that cotton is doing fairly well, but corn is badly needing a good soaking rain. Mrs. Settle was in town with her husband.

H. D. Gilbert, an old timer of the Weston community, has been doing duty in McKinney for a few days. This editor met up with him Friday afternoon in conversation with his old time Weston neighbor and friend, J. M. Summers, now residing at 413 South Chestnut street, this city. Mr. Summers came here several months ago and is now operating his store at the corner of South Chestnut and East Davis streets. He is a splendid gentleman with a nice family and these editors are glad to see him locate in our city.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom M. Scott and daughter, Miss Shirley, who are now on a visit to various points of interest in the East, have written interestingly to Mr. Scott's mother, Mrs. L. A. Scott, in this city regarding their trip. Mr. Scott and family went primarily to attend the class reunion of the class of 1909 of Virginia Military Institute of which he was a member. Later they visited points of interest in Washington and New York and plan on returning by way of Louisville, Kentucky.

Jack P. McCullough, county farm agent, left Friday afternoon for Detroit, Michigan, where he goes to attend the twenty-fifth Annual Rotary International convention. Sessions of the convention will start Monday and continue through Friday. Agent McCullough plans on going on up into Canada and will also visit the World's Fair at Chicago. Agent McCullough is deserving of this vacation, having been one of the busiest individuals in the county during the past two years, having, in connection with his regular county agent's duties, the supervision of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration work in this county.

Misses Louise Bagwill and Alva Beaird, who are attending Summer school at C. I. A., Denton, joined the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bagwill in Dallas last Wednesday where they all attended the annual three days convention of the Texas Press Association. Miss Bagwill and Miss Jean Mae Woodall of Huntsville took part in the Memorial service at the convention Saturday morning. Misses Bagwill and Beaird are both Journalism majors, the former will be a sophomore student next term, while the latter will be a senior. They returned to Denton Monday afternoon.—Piano Star-Courier.

Our good friend, Charley Miller, a tenant farmer on the Earl Carrell farm, four miles east of Melissa, remembers this editor with a mess of roasting ears from his field corn. He only has eight acres of it, but it is in fine roasting stage. It is of the yellow Dent variety. A good rain on it now would bring a handsome increase in yield for its owner. Charley is a son of the late E. H. Miller. He was reared in the Verona community. Nothing we like better than fresh, tender roasting ears cooked on the cob. We have been enjoying them every roasting ear season of the year since we were old enough to nibble on a cob.

The children and grandchildren of Mrs. J. A. Furr, who has been bedfast for the past several weeks, gave her a surprise birthday dinner Sunday. She was sixty-five years old at that time. This came as a complete surprise to her, the children and other relatives coming in with well filled baskets. This observance was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Kent Smith and family, on North Tennessee street, where she makes her home. Mrs. Furr has six children, all of whom were present, except one, including Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Henry Hensley, of McKinney; Will Monroe and S. J. Monroe, and wife of Dallas and Mrs. George Allen of Princeton. One son was unable to be present. He is J. H. Monroe of Glasgow, Wisconsin. It was a happy day, not only for the children, but also for Mrs. Furr.

County Commissioner J. Wilson Spain of Farmersville made a trip through his District No. 3, Southeastern Collin Wednesday. He says that the corn crop is very badly in need of rain right away. Mr. Spain has made an excellent Commissioner, and is a candidate for re-election as will be noted from our announcement column elsewhere in this paper.

FROM THE FILES OF THE DAILY COURIER-GAZETTE

(June 21, 1909.)

City Marshal Arch McDonald of Celina, was a welcome visitor at our office today. He is being prominently mentioned for the office of sheriff of Collin county.

Roger Muse has returned to Fort Worth where he holds a position with a big bank, after a few days' visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Muse, near McKinney.

Mrs. Joe B. Rogers of Randlett, Okla., is the guest of her brother, J. K. P. Shrader, and other McKinney relatives. She is the wife of a former Collin county treasurer.

Dr. J. D. McLean, president of the Texas Presbyterian Home and School for Orphans at Itasca, preached two splendid sermons at the First Presbyterian church in McKinney yesterday morning and last night. A liberal cash offering was made for the benefit of that worthy cause.

Prof. A. F. McDonald, superintendent of the Wylie school, delivered the literary address to the graduating class in Sedalia High school Friday night. The class is composed of three boys and five girls. Prof. R. E. Chapman is superintendent of the Nevada schools.

J. W. Purcell is at home from an extended inspection trip through North and East Texas cotton growing sections. He found some mighty good cotton growing on some of the old, poor East Texas farms. The poorest cotton he saw was between Plano and Greenville on the richest of black land.

Editorial Expression

A McKinney lady philanthropist, Mrs. W. L. Boyd, has just made her fourth benefaction in Collin county farm land to the Texas Scottish Rite hospital for Crippled Children, at Dallas, as announced by Asher Mintz, secretary of Hella Temple Shrine, and Jimmie Jones, secretary of the Scottish Rite. The gifts of these farms to the hospital are in memory of Mrs. Boyd's husband, the late Capt. W. L. Boyd, who during his long lifetime was a successful McKinney merchant, banker, capitalist, president of the McKinney School Board and Worshipful Master of St. John's Masonic lodge. Mrs. Boyd's benefaction to the McKinney School children in 1915, in furnishing the new high school building at a cost of several thousand dollars, caused the School Board in gratitude to name the institution, the Boyd High school building, by which it is known. Mrs. Boyd was accompanied to Dallas by her niece, Mrs. Mae Kinsey, and also by Mrs. H. A. Finch and the party were guests at luncheon of Mrs. Floyd S. Nelson and husband, 4217 Prescott, Mrs. Nelson being a daughter of Mrs. Finch. Mrs. Boyd is universally beloved by the people of McKinney and throughout Collin county for her noble, cultured character. She has bestowed many benefactions to worthy objects. She is particularly interested in children of the underprivileged class as is attested by her frequent gifts to the Crippled Children's hospital of Dallas, which is doing more for the physical relief of deformed and afflicted boys and girls than any other institution of the state. McKinney is proud to be the home of such a noble woman and philanthropist.

GOOD MEN AND TRUE.

Bouquets are due several individual members of the departing Congress.

The largest should go to Senator Fletcher of Florida and Representative Rayburn of Texas, those two staunch conservatives who proved radical enough to insist that honesty and fair dealing should dwell in the securities markets of the nation.

Against the most powerful and pernicious lobby in recent history, Senator Fletcher kept his sharply divided banking committee at work on the stock market investigation and uncovered the abuses that served as a basis for the market control legislation.

Representative Rayburn's brilliant handling of the stock market bill in the House was the most remarkable performance of the session.

The Fletcher-Rayburn team won additional laurels by frustrating efforts to emasculate their Truth-In-Securities law, one of the biggest achievements of the preceding session.

It is said that Rayburn aspires to the House Speakership. He has earned the promotion.—Editorial Washington, D. C., Daily News, June 19.

If Collin is to keep in the vanguard of progress and march ahead, it must continue to build and maintain modern highways. A county is judged by the type of its public roads. Improved highways are a distinct asset. Business in the towns and farming in the country cannot advance satisfactorily without good roads. Collin has some extensive improved highway work going on at the present time and will continue to have for several months yet.

The two McKinney steam railroads have built several large loading and shipping sheds alongside their tracks in this city. These are for the free use and accommodation of onion growing farmers, who are marketing their product here. Railroads are alert for freight hauls. They put forth their best efforts for service, rates and every other inducement that they command in order to get new business.

Past President Will J. Rhea's Memorial Day address to the McKinney Rotary club elicited much interest. Extensive reference was made to it in these news columns. The McKinney club has just entered upon its sixteenth year, all fifteen of its president and past presidents are still living, although fifteen members or ex-members of the local club have passed across the divide between time and eternity.

Sherman pulled off a real successful spring horse show a couple of days recently. McKinney sent good sized delegations to help out. McKinney is looking forward to another great horse show in her own town this fall at our annual county fair. The McKinney horse shows always rate among the largest attended attractions of the kind in the entire Southwest.

Editor Marvin Smith of the Farmersville Times is thoroughly convinced that times are getting better. He found a silver half dollar the other day which was the first money he had seen in many a day. Congratulations, Marvin. Come over and "get 'em up."

THE PEOPLES' CLEARING HOUSE

The Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette will print short timely communications that are acceptable. They must be free from personal abuse of others, must sign their names. The views expressed here in [illegible] not those editors. Space is limited. This column will be headed "The Peoples' Clearing House."

If any be needed, further argument why the Texas Centennial must be fittingly observed is found in the vacation days issue of the Literary Digest, recently issued.

Many pages are devoted to very interesting articles of great value to those seeking attractive and historic locales; one in particular swings around and over the entire United States, beginning in New England and ending in California; every spot mentioned deserves the attention it has received, but there is a complete gap between New Orleans and Santa Fe. Nowhere in this or other articles is there the slightest mention of even the Alamo.

And we all remember Calvin Coolidge's query "What was the Alamo?" when it was pointed out to him!

I scanned the article "Mexico —Land of Romance Next Door," hopefully, thinking Texas might possibly be mentioned as the rail gateway to that beautiful land. But no.

There should and must be an adequate observance of the Texas Centennial as a matter of both State and national pride. In addition, it is needed as a matter of education, both State and national. And to those who can be sold on no other basis than commercialism, the message ought to be clear as to what they are losing in tourist travel through lack of national appreciation of our State.

Plan for July Fourth.

The Jaycees, at this meeting, completed arrangements for the Fouth of July celebration and anniversary meeting combined. Dallas softball, golf, tennis, bowling and handball teams will be here to compete with local players during the day, while in the afternoon Jaycees will be invited from Fort Worth and Denison to enjoy a big barbecue and picnic and other festivities. The event promises to be one of the most elaborate in the history of the organization and one of the most outstanding Fourth of July events ever held in McKinney. All committees have been named and are working, making plans for the celebration.

M. O. Bozeman reported on the traffic committee, which he stated is making splendid progress. Both sides of East Louisiana street, he said, from the square on east are now invoking the one-hour parking limit. Other streets leading from the square will be similarly guarded in the near future.

Mrs. Jessie F. Renfro of Littlefield, West Texas, who has been a patient for a week or so in the Dr. E. L. Burton sanitarium of this city, was able to be taken to the home of her father, Mr. Hood near Farmersville, Thursday morning. She was practically blind and underwent a serious eye operation in Dr. Burton's sanitarium with most satisfactory results.

Mrs. John R. Brown received a telephone message today, announcing the death of Mrs. R. S. Hyer, who passed away early this morning, at her home, 3630 University avenue, in Dallas. She had been in bad health for five years and seriously sick for five weeks. She is the widow of the late Dr. R. S. Hyer, president of Southern Methodist university. She is survived by three children, Robert F. Hyer Jr. of Houston, Mrs. Robert H. Brown of Fort Worth and Mrs. Bascom Thomas of Dallas, with whom she lived. She is also survived by three grandchildren.

A. M. (Uncle Gus) Wilson, a veteran farmer and widely known and generally beloved old pioneer of the Roland community, eight miles north of McKinney, is rather feeble this summer and rarely now gets down to McKinney to attend to business and mingle with his numerous friends on our streets as he formerly did. He was eighty-nine years old on February 8th of this year, having been born in 1845, the same year that Texas changed from a Republic to statehood and a year before Collin county was created and organized.

C. H. (Chas.) Akin

Announces For Flotorial Representative From Collin and Grayson District

By reference to our announcement column, you may see the name of C. H. (Charlie) Akin therein as a candidate for Flotorial Representative from the Collin and Grayson counties district, subject to the Democratic primary election of July 28, next.

At the urgent request of many friends scattered widely throughout both counties, the name of Mr. Akin was filed for this office with the County Chairmen of these two counties sometime ago. He is now making his formal newspaper announcement for that very important legislative trust and honor.

Charlie Akin was born and reared on a farm (Houston land) located a few miles east of McKinney and not far from Princeton where he has principally made his home all the time ever since except during the period he served with the national military forces during the World war.

His education was obtained in the district schools of our county, at the East Texas State Teachers college, at Commerce, and the University of Arkansas, at Fayetteville.

While he has taught school several years in districts adjoining the home district in which he was born and reared, yet farming and business activities have jointly employed his attention during the time he was not in the school-room teaching.

At the present time he is engaged in farming and in the cotton and onion business at Princeton.

He is thoroughly acquainted with the diverse problems facing the farmer at every turn and has a thorough appreciation and sympathy for every State and Federal effort and gesture put forward calculated to better agricultural conditions and to favor those who follow farming.

He believes that due regard must continue to be shown even in a more pronounced way than heretofore, by our lawmakers wherever they serve, to bring about economy as the most potent factor in lessening costs of government and oppressive taxes on the backs of the people.

He especially believes that everything possible should continue to be done to relieve distress of present home ownership, both urban and rural, and to foster increased ownership by favorable home-owning constitutional legislation to state and nation.

Unquestionably, a prosperous agricultural condition and the larger percentage of contented home owners we have, the more stable the nation becomes and the more prosperous our entire people likewise become.

Mr. Akin is a man in the very prime and vigor of useful life, of rugged integrity of character and a trained mind in practical business and educational affairs of the people at large. He is a diligent student of men and governmental problems—of calm, level-headed judgment, wise in counsel, safe and courteous as an adviser, who has had, along with these desirable qualities, two years of valuable experience as a member of the Forty-Second legislature from which position he voluntarily retired at the end of his first term. His record in that body was a constructive one in helping to steer the Ship of State safely and wisely. In fact, his proven record as a lawmaker during his former term has caused the urgent demand upon him this year by many voters to again offer for the place as seasoned, well-poised experience is now needed more than ever in our legislative bodies of both state and Federal governments.

Mr. Akin's friends avow that as Grayson has had the flotorial honor for the past four years, or for two terms, it is now Collin county's turn for the place and in presenting Mr. Akin, Collin has a candidate preeminently worthy of their cordial support in every sense of the term.

Mr. Akin is making an active canvass for the honor now since he has been prevailed upon to enter the race and hopes that every voter in both counties will investigate his qualifications and fitness for the place and if these fill the bill, and you deem him of worthy character, dependable as to integrity, and conscientious as well as capable for public service, you will lend him your vote and influence. He will appreciate your favors as much as any man could. You will never have cause to regret having elected him if he is successful at the polls.

JUDGE T. C. ANDREWS PAYS BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTES TO T. C. U. BROTHER FOUNDERS

Chairman State Board of Pardons Says Add-Ran College Was The Voice In The Wilderness That Went Before Texas Christian University—Randolph Clark Nearing His 90th Birthday.

Judge T. C. Andrews of McKinney, who has been living at the State capital at Austin since accepting the position as Chairman of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles, is an excellent writer as well as public speaker. He contributes the following article on the founding of Texas Christian university. His fluent pen also pays merited tribute to the institution's two founders, Addison and Randolph Clark, the latter still living, nearly at the age of ninety:

* * *

From Judge T. C. Andrews.

AddRan college was the 'Voice in the Wilderness' that went before the Texas Christian university.

When we think of the great Texas Christian university at Fort Worth, with its great endowment and wonderful equipment, we remember that said university was made possible by the untiring labors and unselfish sacrifices of a few men of a previous generation. They were men who were willing to labor without personal reward, willing to sow that others might reap, and willing to bridge streams and construct educational highways over which they had safely passed, but they were built to make it safer and easier for the bright young men and women who might desire to pass that way.

The friends of that university should ever hold in grateful remembrance Addison and Randolph Clark, who were the founders of old AddRan college, which was the 'Voice in the Wilderness' that went before said university.

* * *

AddRan.

There is a little marble slab at the head of a little grave in a Fort Worth cemetery with the word "AddRan" carved upon it, and inseparably connected with that name is an interesting story.

Several children came to bless the home of Addison Clark, and among them was a very bright boy named Addison Randolph in honor of his father and uncle. He was called AddRan. The little fellow fell a victim to diphtheria when he was four years of age. Just before his death, he asked his father to sing 'Happy Land.' Whether the child heard the distant notes of an angel band or the rustle of an angel's wing, we do not know; but the loss of the child made a profound impression upon his father. When the Thorp Springs Academy was established, it was named "AddRan" in memory of the deceased child.

Addison and Randolph Clark.

Addison and Randolph Clark were born in Texas in 1842 and 1844, respectively. Both inherited strong minds and splendid traits of character from their noble parents; and both acquired fairly good educations just before the War Between the States. Both joined the Confederacy, not because they wanted to perpetuate slavery or establish the doctrine of secession, but because the South was their home and it had been invaded. They joined with most of the Southerners to repel the invaders. An incident occurred during the war which will illustrate the character of Addison Clark. As a Lieutenant, he was leading a charge in a fierce battle and men were falling all around him. A dear comrade became fatally wounded, and he caught the comrade in his arms and gently laid him down to die; and then charged the enemy with redoubled energy—this being the way he met adverse circumstances all through life.

Close of the War.

When the stars and bars went down forever at Appomattox, the Clark brothers returned home and became as useful citizens in time of peace as they had been soldiers in time of war. They might have made a great financial success if they had followed law or some other calling; but like that great Southern leader, Robert E. Lee, they heard the bugle call to another field and that was to train young men for the battle of life. And they obeyed the call.

They began at once to equip themselves for the work they had decided to follow. They attended colleges from time to time not necessary to mention here.

In 1869 Addison Clark was induced to join Col. Peter Smith in teaching a school at Fort Worth. Both were graduates of Bethany college.

The prospect of the early building of the Texas and Pacific Railroad made Fort Worth a very live city; and the Clark brothers intended to establish an academy there. They bought property in Fort Worth which grew in value for awhile. They were invited to establish an academy at Thorp Springs; and, liking the location, they made a conditional contract for a building and some land there. The condition was that the Clarks would take the property if they could sell their Fort Worth property. The brothers felt so sure that they could sell their Fort Worth property that Randolph Clark took possession of the Thorp Springs property and began school there in September 1873, while Addison decided to teach another year in Fort Worth.

* * *

The Thorp Springs Academy.

Randolph Clark started the school at Thorp Springs in September 1873 with thirteen pupils, although the number reached seventy-five when the school year closed.

Like a clap of thunder from a clear sky, there came in September 1873 the greatest panic since the birth of the American Republic. The building of the Texas and Pacific Railroad was delayed, and property values in Fort Worth fell as rapidly as they had risen. This panic delayed the sale of the property of the Clarks in Fort Worth; but Addison joined his brother at Thorp Springs in September 1874, continuing the school there. The school had pupils from many counties in Texas; and because of the high intellectual attainments and moral standing of the Clarks and of the school's location away from the vices of the great cities, many anxious parents sent their sons and daughters to that school for training. The Clarks believed that a strong moral character was as essential as a well-trained mind. They believed that the main purpose of school training was to enable the scholar to do useful work more efficiently, to bless mankind, to serve his country patriotically, and to glorify his Creator.

The school soon attracted to it some of the brightest minds of the state who became prominent in many professions and callings. A prominent judge who was a graduate of that academy told me that he never heard of the brutal practice of hazing there which has injured many schools. The Clarks taught their pupils to respect the personal and property rights of others. On one occasion a few of the scholars took a long hike; and, while on the hike, in a spirit of mischief, they threw rocks at a wash-kettle along the road and broke it. Addison Clark required them to walk back eight miles and pay for the kettle and get a receipt for the same.

The school continued to grow but the financial depression continued and the Clarks did not collect enough revenue from the school to make the payments due on the Thorp Springs property. So they deeded the property back to the granter in cancellation of the debts against it in 1877. This left the school without a home, but it did not end. It now had a financial value. Other cities offered liberal donations for the school. But the Clarks, knowing that many of their friends had bought property at Thorp Springs because they thought the school would be permanent decided to keep the school there.

* *

A Noble Sacrifice.

The Clarks sold their homes in Fort Worth at a sacrifice and used the proceeds to buy land and erect buildings thereon for the school. Most any business man would have advised the Clarks against the selling of all their property and investing it in such a doubtful venture; but the Clarks had faith in their school and made a great financial sacrifice to promote it and maintain it.

In a few years, they had pupils from eighty-two Texas counties. They discussed with their friends the prospect of raising an endowment for the school so that it would continue after its founders passed away. They finally deeded the school property to the trustees of the Christian church and it was chartered as the AddRan Christian university. The Clarks did not consent to add the name 'Christian' to their school, as they thought it should not be denominationalized.

The school was moved to Waco about Christmas, 1895; and the Clarks went with it, but retired from the faculty in 1896. Addison retained some connection with the school until about 1902.

The school was moved to Fort Worth in 1910 and was chartered as the Texas Christian university. Since then a noble woman, Mrs. Burk Burnett of Fort Worth, willed to the university several million dollars worth of property, which—added to other donations—gives the school a very large endowment.

Passing of AddRan College.

AddRan college is now only a memory, but its spirit and influence still go marching on. Men can no more follow the blessings of their noble deeds down through the years that come and pass away than a spring can follow its waters to the sea.

Addison Clark, one of the founders of AddRan college, died May 13, 1911. Randolph Clark, the other founder, is nearing his ninetieth birthday. While his mind and memory are still clear, his eyesight is very poor. But he has labored in the vineyard of the Master so long that with the eye of faith he can almost penetrate the veil of the future and look over into the kingdom beyond.

Randolph Clark an Example of a Noble Life.

Men have compared a noble life to a ship at sea, to the light of the morning, and to the forces of nature. Now think of a ship that has sailed the stormy seas of every latitude and longitude for ninety years, and behold it coming into port for the last time to anchor in the Haven of Rest. It started on its voyage a century before the present and it has weathered every storm, and by the protection of Providence, it has escaped many hidden rocks and dangerous whirlpools. A balmier breeze fans the mariner's cheeks as he nears the end of his life's voyage. But a noble life is grander than a ship at sea. It is more beautiful than the light of the morning that comes over the eastern hills in glory, awakening a sleeping world—it is more sublime than the mighty forces of nature which inventive genius has harnessed for the glory of man. As John Temple Graves said, "The grandest thing next to the radiance that flows from the Almighty's throne is the light of a noble and useful life, shining in benediction upon the destinies of men, and finding its home in the bosom of the Everlatsing God."

FRIENDS VISIT ED BURGE AT ROLAND

Contractor George B. Hughes, Judge T. O. Murray and Walter B. Wilson, one of the editors of this paper, drove up to Roland Friday afternon to visit for a short while with their longtime friend, Ed S. Burge, who is in frail health and now unable to come to McKinney only at rare intervals. Mr. Burge doesn't suffer severe pain, but is compelled by weakneess to keep indoors most of the time and sits most of the time in an arm chair in which he can rest better than lying in bed. We found the patient in his customary jovial mood. He is always happy to receive calls from his multitude of friends. He is very sociable by nature and always has been.

We noticed that hay baling was going on on his farm as it was in two or three other fields in sight of the Burge home.

Our good friend Burge has led a very busy and strenuous life. Consequently, it is a new experience for him to sit by in enforced idleness as a looker-on in his farm activities.

He has always been a big-hearted, genial friend who sympathized with the sick and the unfortunate in many practical ways. It is no wonder now that many neighbors and friends are remembering him with visits and little kindly deeds in the way of preparing nick-nacks, baking nice cakes and taking him things calculated to tempt his appetite and thus the sooner help restore his strength and good health again. Our visit to this veteran Roland farmer and good friend was a real treat that all three of us resolved to repeat again at occasional intervals until his health and physical strength ar erestored to a normal state again. No man could be more appreciate of any attention or favor shown him than Mr. Burge.

BOWLBY STORE HIJACKED EARLY MONDAY A. M.

W. H. Bryce, general merchant at the Bowlby Schoolhouse community, four miles west of McKinney, was hi-jacked about 7:00 o'clock Monday morning, June 25, and relieved of between $30 and $40 cash.

He had just opened his store when a young man about twenty-three years old came along in a Chevrolet auto, stopped, bought a Coca-Cola and drank it. He started out of the store, but suddenly turned with a gun levelled on Mr. Bryse, who was instructed to "stick 'em up," which request Mr. Bryce very prudently complied with.

The hi-jacker held his gun levelled on his victim as he doubled back to the cash drawer and rifled it with the other hand of its cash contents.

He then marched Mr. Bryce down the road for a short distance in front of him and then rapidly drove away.

Sheriff Walker and his deputies were promptly notified and responded, but the hi-jacker had more than thirty minutes start of the officers and has escaped detection thus far.

This is the second time that Mr. Bryce's store has been hi-jacked this year.

The other time several months ago, only gasoline and oil were taken.

RECENT PASSING OF MRS. KERR'S SISTER

A CULTURED CHRISTIAN WIFE, MOTHER AND LITERARY LEADER

Morris Cay and wife and the latter's two sisters, Misses Anniebelle and Helen, attended the funeral in Tyler Friday of their aunt, the late Mrs. W. T. McLane, a beloved Tyler church and club worker and prominent in the Texas Branch of the Daughters of the American Revolution who died in Baylor hospital Wednesday night at 9:30 o'clock, June 20, where she had been a patient for several days. Her sister, Mrs. A. P. Kerr, of McKinney, was with her when she passed away.

Funeral services were held in the First Presbyterian church in Tyler at 9:00 o'clock Friday morning, June 22, conducted by her pastor, the Rev. Robert Hill. The funeral cortege then left for Cameron, Texas, where her body was laid to rest at 4:00 o'clock Friday afternoon with the Rev. Dr. Curry of the Theological Seminary, Dallas, concluding the funeral services at the graveside. Many beautiful floral offerings covered her casket as fitting symbols of her noble life and character.

Pallbearers were her three sons-in-law and three Tyler friends: A. F. Sledge, J. H. LeGrande and Arch Ramsour.

The deceased had several times visited at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Kerr, in McKinney, here, where she had made some good friends and acquaintances who deeply sympathize with the bereaved loved ones surviving.

She was born at Davilla, Milam county, Texas. Her maiden name was Jennie Templeton, being the daughter of a flour miller and business man. She was well educated and formerly taught in public schools at Cameron, where she was married to W. T. McLane. They moved to Taylor, Texas, where they lived twelve years. In 1925, they moved to Tyler, where they have resided for the past nine years. A pathetic fact connected with her death was that she and her husband had been living in their new brick home in Tyler only ten days when she was seized with the illness that resulted in her death. They had planned to spend the remainder of their lives in their specially designed and erected happy home when death cut short her earthly career.

The deceased was organizing agent of the Katherine Houseman Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Taylor, Texas, the chapter being named for one of her ancestors and where she retained her membership after moving away from Taylor. Her life story appears in the state history of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. McLane was also active in the Daughters of the Confederacy in which work she manifested unusual interest as her father fought for four years in the Confederacy and surrendered with Gen. Lee at Appomatox Courthouse.

The deceased was a devout Christian character, an ardent worker in the First Presbyterian church, at Tyler, both as a member of the congregation and in its auxiliary organizations. At the time of her death she was secretary of Christian Education and ministerial relief, serving her second term. She was also active in Sunday school work and possessed a comprehensive knowledge of the Bible of which she was a diligent student until death. She had someone of the family during her illness to read portions of the scriptures every day, and so familiar was she with the Book of Books that she could tell from what book in the Bible the quotations came until the day before she died when the Shepherd's Psalm, the Twenty-Third, was read to her and she realized that it was the end of her earthly pilgrimage.

Her cultured mind longed for knowledge and more light. Consequently, she was an untiring literary student who impressed upon her children and other young people, the wisdom of persevering study of history and standard literature along with the scriptures.

She was an active member of the Tyler Garden club and composed a paper that was studied by that club during its last season of study.

Rich in Christian experience and also earthly wisdom and broad range of knowledge, Mrs. McLane leaves a vacancy in her home, in her church, in her city and organizations and circles in which she moved that will be hard to fill. She blessed all who came within the circle of her friendship and her memory will linger as a sweet benediction to inspire more noble living among all those who had ever associated in any way with her.

Mrs. McLane's survivors are: her heart-broken husband, one son, W. T. McLane, Jr., of Tyler; three daughters, Mrs. Hosmer, of Kansas City; Mrs. A. C. Alderson, of Dallas, and Mrs. F. A. Huse, of Tulsa, Oklahoma; also, by one brother and two sisters, as follows: W. H. Templeton, of Greenville, Texas; Mrs. A. P. Kerr, of McKinney, and Mrs. C. A. Wadill, of Taylor, Texas.

Mrs. Lillie Montgomery, who submitted to a serious operation in the City hospital a few days ago, is recovering and was able to be removed to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Gay, Monday night.

LARGELY ATTENDED FUNERAL SERVICES HELD AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SUNDAY AFTERNOON FOR I. PRICE CARR

McKINNEY BUSINESS MAN, CHURCH AND CIVIC LEADER PASSED AWAY AT HOME SATURDAY AFTERNOON; WAS SUPERINTENDENT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Impressive funeral services for the late I. Price Carr were held in the First Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon, June 24, at 5 o'clock. The deceased, who died at his home from an heart attack Saturday afternoon at 1:40 o'clock, was the beloved superintendent of the Sunday school of this church, and was faithful and active in all its services. He had been in ill health for several weeks, being confined to his bed for the past eight weeks. Through his long illness he had been tenderly cared for by his devoted wife and daughter, Mrs. Wofford Thompson. His passing was a shock to his loved ones and large circle of friends. He was thought to be improving for two weeks prior to his passing, but life suddenly left his body Saturday, as he was surrounded by his loved ones and attending physicians.

The profuse floral offerings and attendance of friends at his funeral and through his long illness bespoke the esteem and love in which the deceased was held in McKinney and over the state. The Carr family moved to McKinney some five years ago, but in this short time had endeared themselves in the hearts of all who have known them.

Dr. Robert L. Cowan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, spoke comforting words to the family and friends. The beautiful music was rendered by the choir of the church and Prof. C. M. Duvall sang "In the Garden." This solo was one of Mr. Carr's favorite songs.

Interment was made in Pecan Grove cemetery under the direction of the Sam J. Massie & Son Funeral home.

Active pallbearers were J. L. Clark and J. B. Murdock of Ennis; Ira N. Ellis of Fort Worth, Joe Wilson, Jim Leonard, T. C. Martin, Henry W. Warden, Will Oglesby and W. L. Shoaps, all of McKinney. The honorary pallbearers were the deacons of the First Presbyterian church; S. A. Agee of Fort Worth and Wade N. Biggers.

Native of Mississippi.

I. Price Carr was born June 2, 1880 at Pontotoc, Miss., his family being one of the pioneer families of that state. His father was John H. Carr and his mother, Sarah Drake Carr. The deceased was the youngest of a family of eight children, and the last surviving member of the immediate family. His father, John H. Carr, was secretary of treasury under Jefferson Davis during the Civil war, being a lawyer in the state of Mississippi and also practicing law in Gainesville, Texas. He came to Gainesville with his family when the deceased was 4 years of age. His parents resided in that city the remainder of their lives. I. Price Carr was married to Miss Ethel Harrison of Decatur, Texas, on April 5, 1908. Three children were born to them: Mary Virginia, who died in infancy, Richard Carr and Mrs. Wofford Thompson. The other surviving relatives are one grandson, Wofford Thompson Jr., Mrs. T. A. Isaac, a niece, of Greensboro, Ky., Miss Estelle Drake, a niece, of Bowling Green, Ky., William Perry Drake, of Cincinnati, Ohio, Dr. Richard Drake of Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Mae Carr Finley, a niece, of this city.

As above mentioned, Mr. and Mrs. Carr with their fine family, moved to McKinney five years ago from Ennis where he had been in the dry goods business for ten years. He established the ladies-ready-to-wear store known as "Carr's" in McKinney and was one of the most prominent business men of the city. He was an ardent worker for his home town, taking an active interest in all civic, religious and social activities.

He was an active worker in the First Presbyterian church, holding several responsible offices with that congregation and at the time of ihs death was superintendent of the Sunday school. Price Carr was of a most genial nature. He loved life and his friends, was a devoted husband, father and grandfather. He lived a good Christian life, being fair in business, hospitable in his home and devoted to his family and friends.

The friends from out-of-town here to attend the funeral services were: Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Elrod and son, Warren, Mrs. K. B. Chaffin, Mrs. Iva Jones, Lee Keefe, Mr. Daniels, Mrs. Mary Lou Bynum, Mrs. A. H. Gardner, Mrs. Joe Nutting, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Whaley, all of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ellis, Mr. and Mrs S. A. Agee and son, Sidney, of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Will Shirley and son, Jack, of Denton; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Murdock, Mrs. Winifred Slater and Mrs. Belle Staniforth, all of Denton.

MISS MARGERY BARBEE BECOMES BRIDE WILSON ERWIN IN PRETTY WEDDING

On Thursday afternoon, June 21, at five o'clock at the First Methodist church of Ripley, Tenn., occured the marriage of Miss Margery Barbee and Mr. Thomas Wilson Erwin of Dallas.

The church was beautiful with its decorations of palms, ferns with shell pink gladioli and blue baby breath. In the center of the pulpit a pyramial effect was achieved when a low basket in tones of green and silver filled with gladioli, baby breath and ferns, was placed on the floor in front of massed ferns. Just back of this was a tall branched white floor candelabra with white cathedral candles burning in it. A tall palm at the rear completed the effect. Other candelabra, with lighted tapers in them, entwined with green vines were placed across the pulpit. Interspersed with floor baskets of green and silver and two wrought iron standards draped with the greenery, all holding the same flowers.

Place for the bride and groom to kneel, was marked with a white satin pillow, with tulle bows to match the gladioli, suspended from the top of the chancel rail and caught at each end of the pillow. Nestled close to the pillow, on each side, were ferns in green oblong boxes. Behind the chancel rail were palms which further outlined the space. Other palms and ferns were arranged advantageously around the choir loft and on the piano, completing a perfect setting for the impressive service. While the guests were assembling Miss Katherine Greenlee of Memphis, in white organdy which was trimmed in blue with a big blue felt hat, rendered a program of nuptial music on the organ. She first played "Meditation de Thair," by de J. Massent, followed Liebestraum by Liszt. Miss Greenlee used the wedding march from Lohengrin as the processional and during the ceremony she played Traumerie very softly. Mendelsshon's wedding march was played for the recessional.

As the first strains of the march was sounded Mr. Thompson Kirkpatrick of Memphis and Mr. Frank Harbert of Robinsville, Miss., entered from the opposite side of the church. They were followed by Mr. Taylor Barbee. Then came the two little nieces of both the bride and groom, Betty and Annie Malone Erwin, of McKinney, Texas, little daughters of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Erwin, Jr. They were dressed alike in white organdie, over pink, and carried miniature corsages fashioned after the bride's. The bride was lovely in a suit of heavy white crepe, which was made on tightly fitted lines and ended in a slight train, with which she wore a blouse of blue and white organdy, the collar of which formed a ruff around her neck. She wore white slippers and a large white felt hat. Her flowers were an exquisite arrangement of pink roses, pink gardenias and blue baby breath, tied with pink satin ribbon.

The gloves and handkerchiefs which Miss Barbee carried were heirlooms, having been used by the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Frank Harbert, 78 years ago. The bride entered on the arm of her brother, Mr. J. B. Barbee, of Scottsville, Ky., who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by Mr. Erwin and his best man, his brother, Dr. J. C. Erwin, Jr., of McKinney, Texas.

The very impressive ring service was performed by Dr. Marshall Monroe, pastor of Second Presbyterian church of Houston, Texas, and a brother-in-law of the groom.

Mrs. Erwin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Barbee. After she completed the Ripley High school she attended the University of Tennessee where she was pledged to Zeta Tau sorority. For several years she had been a popular member of the Ripley Primary School faculty. Mr. Erwin is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Erwin, of McKinney. He attended Washington & Lee university and later received his law degree from the University of Texas.

Mr. Erwin is a member Beta Theta Pi social fraternity.

Immediately after the service a wedding supper was given at the home of the bride for the wedding party and the house guests. The table was a picture with its covering of a handsome imported cloth. At one end was the bride's cake which was white, decorated with pink roses, white valley lilies and green stems. It was on a silver platter, which was surrounded by baby breath and ferns. At the other end was a silver flower container, which had been a wedding gift to Mrs. Harbert. This was filled with pink and blue Queen Anne's lace, pink roses and baby breath. To each side of it were two candle sticks, with tall white candles, tied with pink tulle burning in them. Other flowers in the same colorings were placed on the buffet and the mantlepiece.

A buffet supper was served to Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Erwin, Sr., Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Erwin, Jr., Annie Malone and Betty Erwin, of McKinney, Texas; Dr. and Mrs. Marshall Monroe, Houston, Texas; Mrs. Boude Storey, of Dallas; Mrs. W. J. Campbell, Memphis; Miss Annie Harbert and Mr. Frank Harbert, Robinsville, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Kirkpatrick, Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Barbee of Scottsville, Ky. Other out-of-town guests were: Dr. and Mrs. Battle Malone, Mrs. Taylor Malone and Mrs. John Burch, of Memphis.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Erwin left for Canada. The trip will be made both by motor and boat.

For traveling Mrs. Erwin wore a becoming suit of navy sheer with a blouse of white organdy. He accessories were all of navy. After August 1, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin will be at home to their friends in Dallas.

LYNN FAMILY REUNION JULY 8 AT FINCH PARK

IN HONOR NEWTON B. AND SARAH DICKENS LYNN, PIONEERS

Following a custom observed here for the past several years, the Lynn family reunion will be held in Finch park, this city, the second Sunday next month, July 8, according to an announcement by Miss May Lynn, of Dallas, secretary of the organization.

Newton B. and Sarah Dickens Lynn were pioneers in the Princeton neighborhood and many of their descendants are still living in Collin. Many distant places are represented. Dallas is always well represented. Mrs. Maude Lockhart Cotner, formerly of McKinney, comes from Breckenridge. Others come from Oklahoma. Newton Godwin and daughter came from the Rio Grande Valley last year for the reunion. Moore Lynn, our first state auditor, found the trip from Austin short enough but says coming from Knoxville, Tennessee, where he is general auditor for the Tennessee Valley Authority would take more time than he can spare this year.

The reunion of course includes the Gulledges and Dickenses, cousins of the older generation of Lynns in fact "all the folks of all the Lynn folks" and old and valued friends of the family, such as Jerome Sneed Sr., who taught quite a number of the Lynn, Godwins, Campbells, and Phippipses some forty years ago, and Mrs. Alma Wilson, and others.

According to the secretary, Miss Lynn, "Everyone is to bring some family relic, Uncle John baskets, Grandma's brown buttermilk pitcher and the old blue hen and the little china dog—or was he porcelain—that sat on the mantel."

WRONG TO STEAL

It's not right to steal. Besides it's against the law. But here is a tract of land that your conscience might hurt if you buy it, because you would always believe that you had stolen it. Once would have sold for $150. It's clear of debt. Title clear as a hound's tooth. 236 acres. Fairly good improvements. About 100 acres real good land, balance not so good. Good Collin county community. You can buy it for $25 per acre, all cash, or a third cash, and the balance like you want it. Belongs to an out-of-town man. Nothing like it ever been offered before. Handled exclusively and, we don't mean maybe, by the McKINNEY REALTY CO. Ask MR. DOWELL. No information over phone.
